Filing Change of Address

Filing Change of Address ^[1]

Submitted by Chief Editor on Nov 21st 2018

I would like to know whether I should update my residential address to USCIS or immigration department in order to keep them informed of my updated address?? Since I'm the beneficiary and my wife is GC holder, she has applied for my I-130 of family based Green card when I was in New York and now I've moved to South Carolina, are we suppose to inform immigration department? If Yes who should inform them, can I give a permanent Mailing address different from my residential address since I may be working on short-term contracts.

If you are on a nonimmigrant visa you have to notify the government about your address change. If you intend to live with your wife and you are working on a short term contract , I would suggest you to give your wife's address as your permanent address. I think that's ok, especially if you are working on short term projects and moving from one place to another.
